Schou, Jullius A. Glendive Creek to Ft. Buford, Dakota Territory
A history of Schou's unit, the 22d Infantry, states "In the latter part of 1876 the command of Colonel Nelson Miles, which at the time was a major element of the Army's campaign against the Sioux, was ordered by the War Department to cease operations and camp for the winter months at the mouth of the Tongue River, where it meets the Yellowstone River. This was deep in Montana Territory, in what is now the State of Montana."

Thomas, Charles L. Powder River Expedition, Dakota Territory
Encyclopedia of Indian Wars lists action as Powderville and Powder River, MT but the action is not listed in Montana Battlefields book.
